

Father to the rescue

One late evening, Azhar was getting ready for the jog in the park. He asked his wife, “Where is our daughter?”

She replied, “She went to meet her friend.”

Azhar, “Okay, call her to come home early. I am going jogging now.”

He started jogging in the park. Suddenly he heard screaming from the bushes. He stopped and listened to the screaming.

It was the voice of a girl. Then he heard the voice of a man. It looks like the girl is in danger.

He continuously heard the sounds of fighting and muttering.

Azhar was hesitant to get involved and worried about his safety. He was thinking about calling the police.

As he was thinking about his safety, he could feel the voice going down.

He realized that he should act quickly to save the girl.

Azhar took courage and started running towards the bushes. As he was running, he could feel some transformation in his body.

He jumped over the bushes and pulled the man off from the girl.

He started punching the face of the attacker. The man was not able to bear the punches of Azhar. He pushed Azhar onto the ground and ran away.

Immediately Azhar stood up and went near the girl hiding behind the bushes. Since it was late in the evening, he could not see the face of the girl. He can hear only the shivering of the girl.

He said, "Do not worry, the man had run away. You are safe to come out now."

Then she immediately came out running towards him and started crying, "Dad."

She was the daughter of Azhar.

Moral of the story:

There will be difficult situations where we need action to manage them.

If we do not show any courage, the consequences will be painful.

So, have the courage to fight, whatever the situation.
